With a helping hand to offer
Ever friend to all

In the past and in the future
Thee we shall revere;
As a friend and loving mother
We salute thee here!

REFRAIN

Hail to thee—our Alma Mater
Thee we will uphold,

Foreword . . .

Since the sands of time have run their course, we must bid farewell to our Alma Mater. As the tide goes out to sea, so must we take our rightful place in society. With the passing of time, the memories of our school life will grow fainter and fainter, but will ever linger on. It is the hope of our yearbook staff that as you glance thru this book in the years to come you will recapture some of the memories of school life. May our followers find in it abundant opportunity to relive again the glory of it all.

MARY STRAKAY LITTLE, R.N., STUDENT HEALTH NURSE

This year the Class of 1960 dedicates its yearbook to our health nurse, Mary Strakay Little. It is due to her able management that the student health department is run as smoothly and efficiently as it is.

Very few of us realize the work and effort that is necessary to keep the entire student body healthy and happy.

The graduating class wishes to express its gratitude to you, Miss Strakay, for the concern and interest which you display in our health and educational progress. As it has been said many times before, each of us considers you truly as our "Mother Away From Home."

Message From Director of Nursing

"Nursing as a profession provides the discipline, the skills, the ability to meet the unexpected and an insight into a love for people. You now perform tasks with confidence and self assurance that once were so difficult to master. The Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital School of Nursing has provided educational experiences which I am sure you have found to be most rewarding. We are proud of you—Class of 1960! As graduates of this program, look on every day as an adventure and at its end, thank God, for the privilege of life and serving others."

Sincerely,
Charlotte B. Reynolds, R.N., B.S.

Pre-Clinical Period

The beginning of our new life began September 16. 1957 as we walked up the steps of the nurses' home. Remember registration day—how scared we were—all 27 of us.

That evening we were guests of honor at a party given by our "big sisters" at which time we were delusioned by the skit "Life of A Probie." What did you find when you returned to your room that night—greasy door knobs, empty drawers, short sheeted beds or rearranged furniture?

After our orientation to Hahnemann, we began classes including anatomy, physiology, chemistry, microbiology, pharmacology and nursing arts. Remember the "smelly cats," probie blues, study hours from 7:30 to 9 each night and the mad rush every Friday after classes to get a bus or a train home.

After many weeks of theoretical preparation we put our knowledge into practical use. Our first morning on the wards was spent in getting acquainted with the patients. Each day we learned more and were better able to meet the patients' needs. Remember how the patients looked at us with untrusting eyes thinking we were maids, but how great we felt when a patient said "thank you, nurse." How anxious we were to do post mortem care for the first time and, oh my, how well we slept that night. How our hands trembled when we were supervised in giving our first enema, irrigating our first colostomy, and aspirating tracheotomies. Among our other duties we had to straighten the casters, keep the shades even and clean the utility room.

After many weeks of clinical and formal instruction the day arrived when we walked down the aisle to be capped by our "big sisters."

Freshman Year . . .

That long awaited day finally arrived. Remember how proud we were marching down the aisle of Klahr Auditorium to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" in our new "white bibs and aprons."

The importance of the nights of studying and days of work was finally realized as our "big sisters" placed our caps upon our heads and we recited the "Florence Nightingale Pledge." Now we were Freshmen.

We spent all of our duty time on Medical and Surgical floors. On these departments we had greater opportunities for taking care of medical and surgical patients. Remember the head and burn cases on surgical and the extensive use of the Bennett on medical.

What a change! The weekends of our first six months seemed obsolete now that we were working half days and studying even harder.

Finally we gave our first hypodermic, not to our classmates, but to a "real" patient. I wonder who suffered most—we or they?

Along came added responsibilities. Our first day in charge of a department. My, what silly things we did. How embarrassed we were learning to identify doctors and associating them with a name, especially when we did not permit them to see their patient because no visitors were allowed.

New experiences and new people were all a part of Freshman block.

Diet kitchen—what a change. Who would have thought that this would be our first experience as a "private duty nurse?" Remember teaching our diabetic patients the exchange system and the patient who was disappointed because no sugar-free wine was on the menu.

We experienced many joys and disappointments in Freshman block, but they were all leading to that day when we could place a black band on our caps and be called "Juniors."

Junior Year . . .

Suddenly it was time to add our quarter-inch black velvet stripe to our caps, we were "Juniors." Vacation time was over and classes started. We started our first specialty—genito-urinary, gynecology, chest surgery and orthopedics. On G.U. we became experts at irrigating "foleys" and doing "fluid balance"—how many cc's did you drink today? On orthopedics we got very confused. Was it a circus or a hospital with all the ropes, pulleys, bars, etc.? Then on chest surgery we experienced a very challenging service. We observed "open heart" operations, then cared for the patient post-operatively. We learned how to care for the patient with many new types of equipment. Finally gynecology awaited us with its hysterectomies, D&C's P.I.D.'s and the treatments—heat lamps and irrigations.

We then experienced work behind the scenes—the operating room. This was very different and exciting. Our first scrub was quite an experience—would we remember the instrument's names, how to hand the instruments and would the surgeon "yell" if we made a mistake? No, it wasn't as bad as we anticipated. After a few scrubs, we had developed more skill and confidence even though we did get butterflies when we heard our next scrub was for Dr. —.

For the next three months we spent an enjoyable and exciting time on Obstetrics. What a thrill it was when we saw our first delivery. However it was different when we had to work shift for the first time on ante-partum—timing contractions, taking fetal hearts, and knowing when to take her back to "D.R." How many "unsteriles" did you have? In the nursery, we learned to care for the newborn as well as teaching the mothers to care for them and best of all was dressing the babies to go home.

And now as a junior we went on our vacation. We were happy to leave even though it was winter, but were even happier to return to Hahnemann at the end of four weeks.

Then to pediatrics we traveled. This was a little different—caring for the sick children. However, it was quite rewarding to be able to give these children "tender loving care." Remember the fun we had in dirty nursery keeping all the little ones dry, the cutdowns at 6 gtts per minute, how our foreign language interpretation came into play, and the shiny bottle warmer.

During our junior year we began to function as a class—always "bugging" someone to buy or donate something. That's the class of 1960. We had bake sales and dances and sold sweatshirts, and stationery to pay for the prom in honor of the class of 1959.

At this time we began to look forward to our senior year which will have many more memories.

Senior Year . . .

Our final stripe was added to our cap on September 16. 1959 when we officially became seniors.

At this time we assumed our long awaited role as "big sisters." In them we saw wide eyes of joy and anticipation which not so long ago had been ours. How proud we were when six months later we capped our "little sisters."

Our first senior affiliation was at Eastern Pennsylvania Psychiatric Institute. better known to us as E.P.P.I. Here we became keeper of the keys, learned to play bridge. and learned techniques of psychiatric nursing. How we enjoyed the Monday night dances and preparing for the social activity of the month. Remember the many weekends off and the delicious food. Best of all was the bumpy, forty minute bus ride back and forth each day.

Our second affiliation was at Magee Memorial Rehabilitation Center, where we learned to care for disabled patients by teaching them self care.

Formal classes will again resume their course. We had classes in Ward Administration. Professional Problems, which included many guest speakers. Other classes included Communicable Diseases, Disaster Nursing and History of Nursing.

Senior Seminars were scheduled as a preparation for the state boards. We found these sessions very informative and helpful.

One of the most exciting, varied and enjoyable services of our senior year was Accident Ward. Here we learned the meaning of "DOA" and "AOB," learned and practiced all phases of medical and surgical nursing and gained respect for the city police force for their work in emergency situations.

We returned to operating room to improve our skill and learn advanced techniques.

To improve our technique and nursing care on special services, we were allowed to return to certain specialties which we enjoyed during our junior year. Among the electives chosen were obstetrics, pediatrics, chest surgery, medicine, and operating room.

We looked forward to our summer vacations, yet with even more anticipation we look forward to graduation day.

On September 15, 1960 we will bid farewell to Hahnemann School of Nursing. Following graduation each of us will pursue our chosen fields of nursing.

MY GUIDE

Each day before I rise from bed
I bow my head to pray . . .
That God will render strength and aid
To guide me through the day.
I pray that He will lead my feet
As I go from room to room . . .
To render my service to any need;
Put a smile on faces of gloom.
My hands I dedicate to my work
I'll do the best I can,
Striving to help at every hour
Each person . . . woman or man.
Each night before I climb into bed
I remember to bow my head and pray,
To thank my God for all He's done
To make me an efficient Nurse today.
